

Local Fitzroy Crossing trainees in Perth gaining skills to work on the New Brooking Channel Bridge

Three local trainees from Fitzroy Crossing are in Jandakot as part of a three-week work placement at Fremantle Steel. The workers are currently undertaking a paid traineeship on the New Brooking Channel Bridge project completing a Cert II in Construction.

Trainees will carry out Trade Assistant tasks in the steel fabrication workshop at Fremantle Steel to help build on their skills and experience, while providing an opportunity to experience living and working away from home.

They will be accompanied and mentored by a local business owner Keith, as well as additional support from mentors and team members.

Pending interest from local trainees, two additional groups will likely travel to Perth to take part in the work placement in the following weeks.
